

GMS Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Brussels, Belgium., December 11, 2007 – The European Commission has announced an extension of their contract for language training with GMS Language Services® - Language, Coaching, Communications, e-Learning, Translations – an agreement through which the European Commission utilizes GMS® as a “premier supplier” of language services.

The agreement with GMS® reinforces a long-standing relationship between the two organizations. The European Commission upholds the general interest of the Union and is the driving force in the Union’s institutional system. Its roles include proposing legislation to Parliament and the Council, administration and implementation of Community policies, enforcement of Community law, and negotiation of international agreements.

Kathy Falk, managing director, said: “We are delighted to have our contract extended with the European Commission! It’s been a pleasure working with them for the past 4 years. Along with our other local and global clients, this contract reinforces GMS’s reputation as one of the leading suppliers of language training, communication, coaching and translation services.”

Founded in 1992, GMS Language Services® is a worldwide leader of language training to public authorities and the business and corporate community. Helping people and organizations realize their full potential.

Under the extended contract GMS Language Services® will continue to deliver “Best Value for Money”. Our mission is to foster consistent and frank communications with our clients to understand their unique culture and objectives in order to best coordinate seamless language and communication services.
